RELATIONSHIPS & SERVICES

Ownership structure: Firm ownership is made up of Unit Holders; 3 are principal owners and 21 are passive owners. For additional information refer to <https://midwesternsecurities.com/disclosures/>.

Types of customers we serve: Midwestern Securities serves retail and institutional customers, including individuals, corporations, charitable organizations, estates, and trusts. For additional information refer to <https://midwesternsecurities.com/disclosures/>.

Assets under management (AUM): Discretionary and Non-Discretionary AUM information is available on form ADV Part 2A. For additional information refer to <https://midwesternsecurities.com/disclosures/>.

Affiliations: John Graham & Associates (JGA) is a financial consulting firm. JGA offers securities, insurance, and investment advisory services through its affiliate Midwestern Securities, the broker dealer/registered investment adviser. JGA charges separate fees for the services it offers.

ASK YOUR FINANCIAL PROFESSIONAL:

- Given my financial situation, should I choose an investment advisory service? Should I choose a brokerage service? Should I choose both types of services? Why or why not?
- How will you choose investments to recommend to me?
- What is your relevant experience, including your licenses, education and other qualifications? What do these qualifications mean?

WHAT FEES WILL I PAY?

The fees you pay depend on whether you choose brokerage services, advisory services, or both.

• For brokerage services, the principal fees and costs are transaction-based fees for recommendations and execution of securities trades. Depending on the investment product you select, these fees can include up-front commissions, as well as fees that are charged on an on-going basis for as long as you hold the investment (“trails”). Because we are compensated for transactions, we have an incentive to encourage you to trade more frequently and in greater amounts. This creates an inherent conflict of interest which we address through disclosure in this document, review of transactions on a daily basis, and a prohibition on recommendations that are not in the best interest of the retail customer. You will also pay fees for custodial or administrative services, as well as fees and expenses that are included in the expense ratios of certain of your investments, including in mutual funds, ETFs, and variable annuities. For additional information about the fees and costs for our brokerage services, please refer to <https://midwesternsecurities.com/disclosures/>.

• For advisory services, the primary fees and costs are the “wrap” program fee for the program you select. These fees are “asset-based” meaning that the fee is calculated as a percentage of the assets invested in your advisory account according to the fee schedule in your advisory agreement with us. This means that the more assets you invest in your account, the more you will pay in fees, and therefore we have an incentive to encourage you to increase your advisory account assets. Financial planning and consulting services are offered at an hourly rate. This means that the more time spent performing these services, the more money you will pay in fees, and therefore we have an incentive to recommend these services.

FEES, COSTS,
CONFLICTS, &
STANDARDS OF CONDUCT

The above incentives create an inherent conflict of interest which we address through disclosure in this document, review of transactions on a daily basis, review and approval of advisory contracts prior to the start of work, including ensuring appropriateness of the types of services to be provided and a prohibition on recommendations that are not in the best interest of the retail customer. Fees are negotiable. For additional information on maximum fees please refer to <https://midwesternsecurities.com/disclosures/>. Fees you may be charged could be less, but never more.

A wrap advisory fee includes most transaction costs and fees paid to a broker-dealer or bank that has custody of your assets, and therefore is typically higher than a typical asset-based advisory fee that does not include transaction costs and fees. Our customers typically pay the advisory fee each quarter IN ARREARS ON THE PERIOD ENDING BALANCE, but please see your advisory agreement for the payment frequency that applies to your account. As payments are made in arrears there are no refunds. When assets are withdrawn, prior to the end of the period, you will be charged a prorated fee based upon the number of days during the period the assets were under our management.

You may also pay miscellaneous fees that your account's custodian may charge, including wire fees, transfer fees, bank charges and other fees, as well as fees and expenses that are included in the expense ratios of certain investments, including in mutual funds and ETFs.

For additional information, please refer to <https://midwesternsecurities.com/disclosures/>. You will pay fees and costs whether you make or lose money on your investments. Fees and costs will reduce any amount of money you make on your investments over time. Please make sure you understand what fees and costs you are paying.

ASK YOUR FINANCIAL PROFESSIONAL:

- Help me understand how these fees and costs might affect my investments. If I give you $10,000 to invest, how much will go to fees and costs, and how much will be invested for me?

WHAT ARE YOUR LEGAL OBLIGATIONS TO ME WHEN PROVIDING RECOMMENDATIONS AS MY BROKER-DEALER OR WHEN ACTING AS MY INVESTMENT ADVISER? HOW ELSE DOES YOUR FIRM MAKE MONEY AND WHAT CONFLICTS OF INTEREST DO YOU HAVE?

When we provide you with a recommendation as your broker-dealer or act as your investment adviser, we have to act in your best interest and not put our interest ahead of yours. At the same time, the way we make money creates some conflicts with your interests. You should understand and ask us about these conflicts because they can affect the recommendations and investment advice that we provide you. Here are some examples to help you understand what this means.

Examples of ways we make money and conflicts of interest

Third-Party Payments: We receive payments from third party product sponsors and managers (or their affiliates) when we recommend or sell certain products. As such, we have an incentive to recommend (or to invest your assets in) products of third-parties that pay us over products of third parties that do not pay us, or pay us less. Advisors, when possible, will not receive 12b-1 fees in fee based accounts, from mutual fund investments recommended to customers per Midwestern Securities' internal policies. To avoid the inherent risk for a potential conflict of interest, 12b-1 fees will be rebated back to the customer as is possible.

HOW DO YOUR FINANCIAL PROFESSIONALS MAKE MONEY?

Financial professionals are compensated through a salary and/or percentage of the commission or fees generated through their activities and paid by the employing bank or credit union based upon the employment agreement with the bank or credit union. As such, the bank or credit union determines the details of the employment agreement and Midwestern Securities reviews the compensation arrangements to eliminate product related conflicts of interest. Where a financial professional is registered with us and not associated with a bank or credit union, their compensation is paid directly by the Firm. Further details of the compensation types received and conflicts pertaining thereto are outlined elsewhere in this document.

DISCIPLINARY HISTORY
